

DEBORAH BROWN-VOLKMAN, PCC

CAREER OPTICIAN™

HELPING YOU SEE YOUR CAREER FROM A FRESH PERSPECTIVE

As a Certified Career/Executive Coach and Career Optician™ Deborah helps audiences in the midst of career change see things differently. She provides a new way of looking at career challenges from a fresh perspective.

Deborah is a regular person who went through a tough childhood, survived it, healed herself, and is currently on a mission to get people unstuck and moving forward; her purpose that she takes very seriously.

As an author of several books, Deborah taps into 20+ years of solid career coaching experience empowering clients to find new jobs, new careers, new ways of dealing with workplace challenges, and new systems for performing at their best.

Deborah has worked with clients in companies, including: Facebook, Google, Citibank, Nautica, Verizon, and many other others.

Deborah can tell you what it's like to navigate and succeed in a start-up, small/medium sized business, or Fortune 500 corporation.

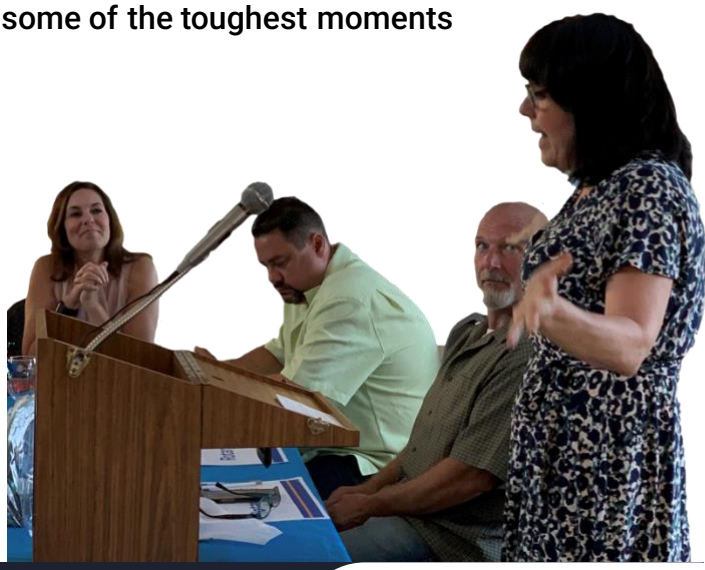

Deborah is a mix of data and intuition and brings an East Coast energy, excitement, and novel outlook with interesting stories to share. She offers advanced knowledge, not general surface level information. You walk away with practical tips, insights, and ideas that can be applied and implemented immediately.

Deborah empowers her clients as they view their career from a new lens.

She has supported 1,000's of clients as they've moved past some of the toughest moments in their careers, including:

- During COVID-19 as industries disappeared overnight and people had to pivot or start over. {Post-COVID, people are still picking up the pieces.}
- The Financial Crisis when thousands of people were jammed into conference rooms and terminated at the same time with no notice. {Now, this happens on Zoom.}
- 911 when the towers fell in NYC and people did not know what to do next. {Out-of-the blue challenges are still happening in the workplace today.}

"If you can see it, you can do it."
